

DAVENTRY TOWN COUNCIL POLICY ON COUNCILLOR/OFFICER RELATIONSHIPS

An effective working relationship between Councillors and Employees is vital to the successful operation of the Council's business. The main aim of the Council is to deliver efficient and effective services to the residents of Daventry Town. It is important that both Councillors and Employees work together to achieve this aim and maintain confidence in the workings of the Council.

- a) Councillors are responsible to the Electorate as a whole, whilst Employees are responsible to the Council. The role of Employees is to give advice to Councillors and help them carry out work under direction of the Council and its committees.
- b) Council business will be conducted more effectively if there is mutual respect and courtesy in all meetings and contacts, both formal and informal, between Councillors and Employees. Where Councillors have concerns about individual Employees, or Employees have concerns relating to individual Councillors, these should be pursued with the Chief Officer and/or Chair/Member of the Personnel Panel, only.
- c) Any formal disciplinary action will only be initiated by the Chief Officer or the Full Council. No individual elected member has the ability to unilaterally initiate formal disciplinary action.
- d) Employee concerns regarding their employment with the Council should either be raised with the Chief Officer or Chair/Member of the Personnel Panel. This should initially be done on an informal basis, however if that does not achieve a mutually acceptable result, the Employee must use the Council's formal grievance procedure.
- e) Councillors and Employees of the Council have a duty to conduct themselves in a professional and impartial manner, in accordance with the stated aims and requirements of the Council.
- f) No individual should conduct themselves in a manner which is unfavourable to the stated interests of the Council or could be interpreted as favouring individual interests against those of the Council.
- g) Councillors' concerns regarding procedural matters relating to any Council business should be taken up, in the first instance, with the Chief Officer. Employees concerns may be taken up through the Chief Officer and / or the Chair of the Council and/or Chair/Member of the Personnel Panel, initially on an informal basis.
- h) Employees are employed by the Council as a whole, and are directed by the Full Council, committees and working groups alone, not by individual Councillors.
- i) Employees shall take the necessary action to implement resolutions made at meetings or the Chief Officer acting under delegated powers. No Employee shall take action upon the instruction of an individual Councillor. If an Employee has a grievance or wishes to comment on Council policy so far as it affects him or her as an Employee, he or she will take the matter up with his or her immediate line manager.
- j) Should an Elected Member be called upon to discuss or debate any aspects of an Employee's employment with the Council, and they genuinely believe that they have an interest in that Employee, such as an involvement with them outside of the Council, they should declare the matter in accordance with the Council's Standing Orders.
- k) All Councillors have a right of access to the Chief Officer, via email, during normal working hours. If a Councillor needs to see the Chief Officer a prior appointment should be made. Where a member requires information, it will be provided if it is readily available. The Chief Officer is free to give advice on a confidential basis about procedural matters to any Councillor. cases the Chief Officer may seek advice and instruction from the Chair or another appropriate Councillor or refer to Northamptonshire County Association of Local Councils before responding.

l) Councillors should not raise matters relating to the conduct or capability of employees at meetings held in public or before the Press, as Employees have no means of responding to the same in public, and such conduct could breach the trust and confidence the Employee is entitled to expect from the Council as their Employer.

m) If any Councillor feels that he/she has not been treated with the proper mutual trust, respect or courtesy or has any concerns about the conduct or capability of an Employee, he/she should raise the matter, in private, with the Chief Officer. Should the Employee in question be the Chief Officer, the matter should be confidentially brought to the attention of the Chair of the Council and/or Chair/Member of the Personnel Panel.

n) Councillors should be aware that Employees are constrained in the response they may make to public comment from Councillors and should not abuse officers in public or through the press nor seek to undermine their position by abuse, rudeness or ridicule.

In meetings, individual Chairmen should be aware of discussions which may become abusive towards an Employee and must protect that Employee

o) Councillors and Employees should work together in a healthy environment for engendering mutual trust, openness, honesty, fairness, transparency, respect and courtesy.

CONCLUSION.

It is the duty of the Chief Officer to arrange matters so that employees properly understand the roles of Councillors, and the Council's required approaches to the relations between them.

They are also entitled to expect Councillors to respect the level of responsibility of employees with whom they have dealings and the fact that whilst those employees owe duties to the Council as their employer, such duties do not relate to any individual Councillor.

The intention of this policy is to provide a framework within which relationships can be continued in a proper manner with respect for different roles of the participants, as well as recognising the statutory requirements and the constitution of the Council.
